

American Dippers

American dippers are dark gray and have long legs. They live by clear flowing streams. They are the only songbirds that catch their food underwater! They eat insects that live in streams. These birds earned their name because they are always “dipping” their bodies up and down.

