MANAGEMENT TOPICS

Season Choice Licenses:

“Season choice” PLO antlerless plains deer licenses as needed to achieve management objectives. This license would be valid during all seasons and hunters would only be restricted by the legal methods of take for each season. Such a “season choice license” would provide more time and equal opportunity for all deer hunters to harvest an antlerless deer and would allow landowners more flexibility in managing hunting on their property. In addition, administration efficiency would be improved because “season choice license” would require one hunt code rather than three hunt codes necessary to provide PLO antlerless opportunity for each method of take.

CUSTOMER SERVICE TOPICS

Preference Points & Drawings:

Pay-to-Play:

- Deer, Elk, Pronghorn & Bear: an option on the license drawing application will be available that would allow the applicant to decline paying the $25 fee. If this option is checked, the applicant would not receive a preference point unless they have purchased an annual or big game license in the previous year or current drawing.
- Moose: no pay-to-play fee

Preference Point Purging:

- Deer, Elk, Pronghorn & Bear: preference points purged after 10 years of inactivity in the draw or purchasing licenses for that species
- Moose: preference points purged after 5 years of inactivity in the draw

Preference Point Types:

- Deer, Elk, Pronghorn & Bear: regular preference points used for first-choice drawing licenses
- Moose: regular preference points capped at three with weighted preference points accrued once cap has been reached; both regular and weighted preference points used for first-choice drawing licenses

Use of Preference Points:

- Deer, Elk, Pronghorn & Bear: all regular preference points will be used when first-choice license is obtained; no banking of preference points
- Moose: both regular and weighted preference points will be used when first-choice license is obtained; no banking of preference points

Drawing Types:

- Deer, Elk, Pronghorn & Bear: regular or hybrid drawing
 - Regular (straight preference point) drawing – uses regular preference points to give preference to qualifying applications for first choice hunt codes only
 - Hybrid drawing – regular drawing except in those hunt codes requiring 10 or more resident preference points to draw in the regular drawing, 20 percent of available licenses for deer, elk, pronghorn and bear shall be issued through a random drawing. The number of preference points required to draw shall be determined by an average of the 2007, 2008 and 2009 draw results. A minimum of five individual preference points is required for an applicant to participate in the random drawing. Group applications shall not be eligible to participate in the random drawing.
- Moose: weighted preference point drawing; licenses are distributed between manners of take (archery, muzzleloading, and rifle) depending upon the hunt codes chosen by successful applicants

Definition of List A, B & C Licenses:

List A, B & C licenses primarily defined by species, sex and GMU; in some cases definition is season specific.

Resident/Nonresident Allocation:

A variety of nonresident limitations exist depending on species, season and resident demand.

- Deer: nonresident drawing limitations exist (65/35 & 80/20 for 1st choice hunts in primary draw) except for PLO and RFW hunts; public RFW hunts only available to residents.
- Elk: nonresident drawing limitations exist (65/35 & 80/20 for 1st choice hunts in primary draw) except for PLO and RFW hunts; public RFW hunts only available to residents.
- 65/35 & 80/20 split: nonresident soft cap exists. Therefore, unless there is an insufficient number of resident applications, nonresident hunters shall receive no more than 35% of available deer and elk licenses for hunt codes requiring fewer than six preference points for resident hunters to draw in the regular drawing and no more than 20% of available deer and elk licenses for hunt codes requiring six or more preference points for resident hunters to the regular drawing. The number of preference points required to draw shall be determined by an average of the 2007, 2008 and 2009 draw results.
- Pronghorn: no nonresident drawing limitations; public RFW hunts only available to residents.
- Bear: no nonresident drawing limitations; public RFW hunts only available to residents.
- Moose: no more than 10% of the quota is available to nonresidents; public RFW hunts only available to residents.

In addition, to be eligible for a refund the failure to apply for a refund before the opening day of the season for which the license was issued cannot be due to a lack of diligence on the part of the licensee. The Division of Wildlife's License Administration Manager will render a decision on the refund request on behalf of the Division and the Wildlife Commission and such decision shall constitute final agency action. Circumstances for which reimbursement will be considered shall be limited to:

- Extreme medical circumstances involving the license holder.
- Death of the license holder or death of a license holder's immediate family member.

However, in no event shall a refund be made where the request for refund is submitted more than thirty (30) days after the opening of the season for which the license was issued or more than thirty (30) days after the date of purchase of the license. In case of conflict the least restrictive time limit shall apply. Proved further that the 30-day time limit will be extended for members of the United States armed forces whose military service requirements precluded their application for a refund within said period or for refunds as described below.
